

RUBBER CHEMICALS

Description – What are Rubber Chemicals?

Rubber Chemicals are commodity products that are used in the production of various rubber products.

Rubber Chemicals are added during production to affect a product's elasticity, strength, durability, hardness, flexibility and resistance to wear.

Who uses Rubber Chemicals?

Companies in the business of manufacturing rubber goods.

What products are made with Rubber Chemicals?

Rubber Chemicals are used in various rubber products including tires, automobile parts, surgical gloves and shoe soles.

Rubber Chemicals are also used in many other commercial, industrial and health applications.

How do I know if I own a product that contains Rubber Chemicals?

If you suspect that you have purchased a product that contains Rubber Chemicals, your best source to confirm this is through the manufacturer of the product.