About

Born and raised in London, Adnan has been practicing business law at Siskinds LLP for over 20 years. His practice focuses on corporate structuring and restructuring, business purchases and sales, succession and estate planning, financing transactions, and the preparation and negotiation of business contracts. He advises clients ranging from start-ups to mature enterprises, with a particular emphasis on owner-managed businesses. His experience also includes acting for professional corporations, not-for-profits, and charities.

Adnan has extensive experience structuring and negotiating complex business transactions and preparing a wide variety of commercial agreements, including shareholder agreements, commercial leases, distribution agreements, partnership agreements, and licensing agreements. He works closely with business owners, professionals, and entrepreneurs to develop practical legal strategies that support growth, protect assets, and facilitate successful transitions.

He understands that clients value responsiveness, efficiency, and practical advice in both transactional matters and day-to-day business operations. Adnan takes the time to understand each client's objectives and provides the personal attention necessary to guide them through commercial legal matters with confidence, while ensuring their interests remain fully protected.
