About

Elena is the leader of our immigration law group. She practices exclusively in the area of immigration law. Being an immigrant herself, Elena understands the importance of providing meaningful support to businesses and individuals with their immigration and border-crossing needs. Elena offers a full range of Canadian business and personal immigration services, including permanent residence, citizenship, work permits, study permits, visitor visas and criminal rehabilitation and Record Suspension ('Pardon') applications.

During COVID-19 pandemic, Elena has been providing border-crossing advice to foreign nationals on daily basis and has been helping family members to reunite in Canada. She has been assisting Canadian businesses to expand during the pandemic by advising on immigration regulations relating to hiring and retaining temporary foreign workers.

Elena offers a limited scope of U.S. immigration services, which includes spousal sponsorships, intra-company transfer work permits and U.S. Waiver applications.

Elena moved to Canada in 2008 from Moscow, Russia where she obtained a Russian law degree with a Specialist in International Law designation. She received Masters of Arts in History from Western University, Immigration Consultant Certificate from Humber College and Juris Doctor from University of Ottawa.

Prior to joining Siskinds LLP, Elena held a Review Counsel position at a legal clinic at Western University, Faculty of Law, supervising law students in criminal defence cases and aiding international students and postdoctoral fellows to immigrate to Canada. She also worked in affiliation with several law practitioners assisting in complex criminal and immigration matters.
