About

Fred is partner at Siskinds and long standing member of the firm’s board of directors. He practices business law exclusively with a focus on mergers and acquisitions, corporate reorganizations, business succession, and contractual matters including shareholder agreements and software license and development agreements.

Fred obtained a Bachelor of Commerce (Hons) degree from Memorial University of Newfoundland in 1990. It is his understanding of business that allows Fred to quickly hone in on the business issues that matter and provide his clients with strategic and creative solutions.

The majority of Fred’s clients are owner managed businesses and include a number of manufacturers, software developers and distributors, service companies and insurance brokers.
