About

Originally from Manitoba, Lauren has practiced plaintiff-side litigation since graduating from Western University in 2016. She gained experience at a boutique personal injury firm in Toronto before returning to London, which she has made her home over the past several years.

During law school, Lauren was a supervisor at Community Legal Services. Through the clinic, she saw firsthand the value in providing wronged individuals with access to justice. Lauren has since dedicated her career to helping individuals succeed, both through her formal practice and volunteer endeavours.
