About

Nicole joined Siskinds as an Associate in 2023, after summering and completing her professional placement with the firm. Her practice is focused on plaintiff-side litigation.

Prior to law school, Nicole spent years working in Ottawa, first on Parliament Hill as a political staffer and later as a federal public servant. Nicole held policy roles at two of the largest departments in Canada - Health Canada and the Department of Justice.

Nicole is a strong proponent of giving back to her community. She continues to volunteer with organizations that are committed to supporting vulnerable and marginalized individuals. In her leisure time, Nicole enjoys attending a local fitness class, exploring the outdoors, and traveling to new destinations.
